Learn

Project-Based Learning

Project Based Learning is a student-directed learning strategy that emphasizes active learning and allows students to explore topics that interest them. Learn how to facilitate projects, see students collaborate to take charge of learning, and help young people make a difference in their world. Explore each phase of the process and take project-based learning one step further with civic learning & engagement, helping students to pursue social change and participate in civic life.

Aligning With The School Day

Learning during out-of-school time can boost academic engagement and achievement during the school day. Learn about key concepts such as building a shared vision for learning, coordinating curriculum and supporting partnerships with school-day staff.

STEM

Explore exciting ways to incorporate science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) in your 21st CCLC environment. Learn how to build a STEM team and see examples of STEM projects in action.

Strengthening Partnerships

Learn how to develop and sustain partnerships that enhance your programming.

Family Involvement

Constructive relationships between 21st CCLC programs and families contribute to better results for students. Learn to forge strong links to students' families, to involve them in 21st CCLC, and to support them in overcoming challenges.

Teach

Project-Based Learning

Projects take time, planning and execution. Design trainings and tools and plan for implementation so staff and youth have successful project-based learning experiences.

Aligning With the School Day

Learning during out-of-school time can boost academic engagement and achievement in schools.

STEM

You don't have to be a science whiz to provide STEM learning in your program - but it does take some planning. Design trainings and tools and plan for implementation so staff and youth have successful STEM experiences.

Strengthening Partnerships

Utilizing partnerships takes understanding program needs, identifying potential partners, and effectively integrating partners into your work. Design trainings and tools and plan for implementation to make partnerships a larger part of your program.

Family Involvement

Family involvement takes understanding the strengths and challenges of program families, finding multiple ways to get them involved and supporting them as they support their children. Design trainings and tools and plan for implementation to improve your program's family involvement efforts.

Follow-Up and Supervision Checklist

A screenshot of a PDF document titled 'Follow-Up and Supervision Checklist' from the 'You For Youth Project Based Learning' series. The document is displayed in a PDF viewer window. The content includes a red header with the 'You For Youth' logo and the title. Below the header, there is a paragraph explaining that projects should be monitored during planning, implementation, and final-event stages. This is followed by a 'Pre-project Checklist' section, which lists ten characteristics to review project plans with staff, each preceded by a checkbox. The characteristics are: Engaging, Attuned to youth interests, input, Feasible (i.e., fit youth and staff skills, timeline, resources), Age appropriate, Clear objectives, Activities linked to objectives, Objectives linked to learning for success in school, Demonstration of learning established, Review times scheduled, and Culminating-event process planned.

You For Youth / Project Based Learning

Follow-Up and Supervision Checklist

Projects should be monitored during the planning, implementation, and final-event stages. Discuss with staff what you will be looking for, what they are looking forward to and feeling challenged by, and how and when you and staff can review and discuss.

Pre-project Checklist
Review project plans with staff to check for the following characteristics:

- ☐ Engaging.
- ☐ Attuned to youth interests, input.
- ☐ Feasible (i.e., fit youth and staff skills, timeline, resources).
- ☐ Age appropriate.
- ☐ Clear objectives.
- ☐ Activities linked to objectives.
- ☐ Objectives linked to learning for success in school.
- ☐ Demonstration of learning established.
- ☐ Review times scheduled.
- ☐ Culminating-event process planned.
